CONSENT AND REFERRAL- COMMUNICATION BETWEEN PRACTITIONERS

Informed consent is fundamental to the ethics of clinical care and research involving people. Although it is typically the ethical responsibility and legal duty of health care professionals to obtain valid informed consent from patients and research participants, consent is not always well interpreted or well documented in practice.

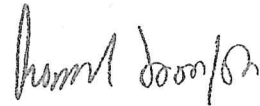

Referring to a consulting dentist allows patients to receive care from a professional with specialized training to meet their unique needs. It is crucial to instil in the students the value of referral and consent.

Program conducted in lecture hall 1 on 15/12/18 from 9:00-10:00am for interns.

Dr. Pinky Varghese was chief orator for the day.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND MENTAL HEALTH IN A CHANGING WORLD

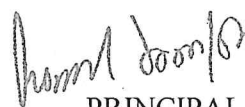

Adolescence and young adulthood is a phase of transition. During this sensitive and vulnerable period of life one undergoes various biological as well as emotional and social changes. Youth is a stage at which most serious mental illnesses can occur, yet youth themselves are taught little to nothing about mental illness and well-being. It is great that for Mental Health Day, the World Federation for Mental Health (WFMH) is focusing on "Young People and Mental Health in a Changing World" as a theme.

A program was organized in lecture hall 1 on 10/10/18 and 11/10/18 from 8:00-11:00am.

Dr. Suneesh Kuruvilla was the chief orator.

POST EVENT REPORT

PROBLEM SOLVING AND DECISION MAKING

Today's dentists face complex challenges; these include dealing not only with younger and healthier patients but also with aging populations who have an increasing number of illnesses, as well as with rapidly evolving biomedical and dental knowledge and technologies.

Academic education in dentistry should lead to the capability to solve complex open problems. The student entering university is only familiar with closed problems. Research into the making of a medical diagnosis has shown that novices do so differently than experts. These research results are summarised and are presumed to be transferable to dental diagnosing and treatment planning.

IGIDS conducted a program at lecture hall 1 on 30/10/18 from 10:00-11:00am.

Dr. Nimmy Sabu was chief orator for the day.

The Academic Club had scheduled a program on 30th October 2018 at lecture hall 1 from 10:am-11:00am. Academic education in dentistry should lead to the capability to solve complex open problems. The student entering university is only familiar with closed problems. Research into the making of a medical diagnosis has shown that novices do so differently than experts. These research results are summarized and are presumed to be transferable to dental diagnosing and treatment planning.

Topic: Problem Solving and Decision Making

Venue: Lecture Hall 1

POSTEVENT REPORT
BLOOD DONATION CAMP

The role of blood in a living creature is unique. Millions of people owe their lives to people whom they will never know or meet in their lifetime. They are none other than those people, who have donated their blood freely and without any reward –voluntary blood donors. Voluntary unpaid donors are the foundation of a safe blood supply which saves millions of human beings from the jaws of untimely death.

We need to extend a hearty appreciation to these unsung heroes who give the precious gift of life to mankind.

A blood donation camp was conducted at library, AV hall on 25/09/18 from 10:00am-1:00pm

POST EVENT REPORT

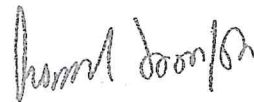

FULL MOUTH REHABILITATION: A STAGED APPROACH TO TREATING THE WORN DENTITION

The gradual wear of the occlusal surfaces of teeth is a normal process during the lifetime of a patient. However, excessive occlusal wear can result in pulpal pathology, occlusal disharmony, impaired function, and esthetic disfigurement. However, the rehabilitation of the severely worn dentition is challenging when the space for restoration is not sufficient. Management of worn dentition using fixed or removable prostheses is complex and among the most difficult cases to restore. Assessment of the vertical dimension is important for the management, and careful comprehensive treatment plan is required for each individual case.

A program was organized in lecture hall I on 21/05/2019 from 11:00-1:00pm pm for interns. Dr. Muhammed Shahid was the chief orator for the day.
