POST EVENT REPORT

SOFTWARES AND APPOINTMENT MANAGEMENT

A dentist must offer excellent dental care and also needs to deliver a positive customer experience. Software for dentistry can help in this situation. The quick-paced world we inhabit yearns for instant interactions. Dental software provides a higher level of immediacy for the patients. Dental management software allows dentists to go paperless. Replacing an old file folder system with an electronic database keeps information more secure.

Considering the value of upgrading the knowledge about software, IGIDS conducted a program on “soft-wares and appointment management” in the lecture hall IV on 20/08/19 at 9:00-10:00am.

Dr. Gis George was chief orator for the day.

POST EVENT REPORT

BREAST CANCER AWARENESS

The increased prevalence of breast cancer in recent years characterized by young age and delayed presentation has alerted women to randomly seek medical advice randomly. Breast cancer awareness programs are scarce and when available function on a very limited scale.

In an attempt to increase cancer awareness among women, IGIDS conducted a "BREAST CANCER AWARENESS" in association with department of oral pathology and microbiology, at lecture hall IV on 19/10/19 from 10:00 am-12:00 pm.

POST EVENT REPORT
EVIDENCE BASED DENTISTRY

Dentists have a responsibility to use evidence to inform practice and ensure that the basis for informed consent and treatment of patients reflects the best available evidence, applied in accordance with the clinical expertise of the dentist and the wishes of the patient. Dentists are also responsible for avoiding techniques and technologies that have been shown to be ineffective, unsafe and unethical. Dental practice should be based on a commitment to sound science and an ethical obligation to protect patient health. With rapidly evolving science and technology, information becomes more readily available, creating challenges for dentists to obtain, understand, evaluate and integrate this new information into daily clinical practice.

A program was organised which focused on fundamentals of evidencebased dentistry, its application in routine dental practice and fundamentals of journal based learning at lecture hall IV on 17/12/19 from 11:00am- 2:00pm.

Dr. Subramaniam R was the chief orator for the day.

IMPORTANCE OF RESEARCH AND PROFESSIONAL UPGRADATION

Research allows dental students to develop a deeper understanding of the biosocial underpinnings of the profession. It provides a novel venue in which students can increase their knowledge base and improve delivery of care through participation in clinical studies. It can strengthen the professional knowledge base by applying the principles of good clinical practice, creating a resource for future dental faculty, training practitioners on best practices, and increasing the responsibility, accountability, and scope of care.

IGIDS conducted a program in CDE hall on 07/11/19 at 9:00-11:00am

POST EVENT MANAGEMENT

FINANCE MANAGEMENT

In our increasingly complex society, the business aspects of dentistry have become more important for even the “survival” of certain dental practice styles. In other words, the dental practice must be managed as a business in order to have the ability to provide dental services to community. Important aspects of surviving in dental field include interaction between the professionals, within the team, with the public and especially with the patients and proper finance management. The successful practitioner would need to outline a savings and investment strategy and to make a road map to financial success.

IGIDS conducted a program on Finance Management on 17/01/20 in the CDE Hall at 10:00-11:00am.

Dr. Joju George was chief orator for the day.
